

SECOND OPERATION LEAVES HIM WEAK

Pope Leo on the Verge of Collapse at Any Time...Doctors Agreed.

LITTLE HOPE NOW

It Is Thought That He May Live Twenty-Four Hours More, at Least.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) Rome, July 10.—Before the operation was performed this morning the pope said to the doctors: "Tell me the truth. I hear the call of death and would be glad of release." When the physicians tried to assure him his holiness stopped them, saying: "I understand you; you are, however, giving me no consolation as my greatest desire is heavenly rest. I am so tired."

Crisis Approaching
London, July 10.—A late Rome dispatch announces that the crisis in the pope's condition is approaching fast. Pleural cavity is filling fast and Dr. Mazzoni does not believe he will live after midnight.

Washington News
Washington, July 10.—It is said that the official news of the death of the pope is likely to be held up at Rome for several hours after it does occur or until the fact can be telegraphed by official communication to the several heads of government throughout the world. Not until all these messages are sent it is stated, will a formal announcement of the demise of his holiness be made public in Rome itself.

Rome, July 10.—The relief afforded by the second operation is expected to prolong the life at least twenty-four hours. At the end of that time, a second operation will be necessary. Whether his holiness will be able to stand another operation is doubtful, but it will be necessary to make another puncture. Meanwhile his strength is simply wearing out. Considerable surprise is expressed at the amount of serum abstracted. A thousand grammes weighing two pounds was taken out. Thus it can be seen the operations were essential. One good symptom this afternoon is that cynopsis in the prelates hand and foot have nearly disappeared.

Noon Report
Rome, July 10.—The official report given out at noon is as follows: "The pope's condition during the first part of the night was peaceful. His breathing was uneasy, and he had a feeling of oppression. His pulse was weak being 92. He stood the second operation very well." The report was signed by Rossini Lapponi and Mazzoni, the physicians in charge.

Mind Is Clear
Dr. Rossini said after the second operation that the prelates mind was so clear that even the most experienced physician might be easily misled as to the gravity of the patient's condition. He believes there is no hope for his ultimate recovery.

Diet Is Limited
The infections given by Dr. Mazzoni and then by Dr. Lapponi had had, in part, the desired effect, as the pope has succeeded in getting some sleep, although his slumber was not entirely tranquil. The patient's diet has been somewhat lightened since the attack of diarrhea yesterday, and is now limited mainly to meat broth and beef tea.

It was toward the latter part of the afternoon that his holiness took a sudden turn for the worse, as the result of an attack of diarrhea, apparently caused by the unaccustomed quantity of food he had taken. The new development augmented his extreme weakness, and a hurried consultation was held by Drs. Lapponi and Mazzoni, who had attended the pope from the first, and Professor Rossini, a pupil of Dr. Bacchi and the latter's successor in the general clinic at Rome.

Disease Develops
Dr. Lapponi remained at the vatican after the consultation was ended, but he came from the sick chamber long enough to say a few words. The doctor looked haggard and much depressed. The hopeful appearance which he had shown early in the day had entirely disappeared.

"I fear there is no hope," he said, "no hope whatever, and yet the end may not come at once. Although the patient's condition is very grave, the disease seems to be developing through slow but certain processes." Dr. Rossini and Dr. Mazzoni left the vatican after the consultation, but later Dr. Mazzoni returned. One of the most remarkable features during the serious turn taken is the fact that the pope continued dressed and partially sitting up. His mind remained perfectly clear and apparently the only cause for alarm was that the doctors had detected a renewal of the dangerous internal complications.

Orsini Not Represented
A new phase of the historic strife between the noble families of Colonna and Orsini has been developed by the illness of the Pope. Hoping to reconcile this ancient family hostility, it has been the practice to designate the head of each house as a prince assistant to the pontifical throne, these two positions being the highest lay honors in the gift of the Pope.

In the case of the coronation of a new pontiff, the two places stand on either side of his holiness. The head of the Colonna family, Don Marco Antonio Colonna, was among the visitors at the vatican, but the Orsini family is temporarily unrepresented in this high dignity, Don Filippo Orsini having resigned in favor of his son, Don Domenico, Prince of Solofra, and the latter's nomination not having yet been confirmed by Pope Leo.

The Orsini are thus without representation and this circumstance constitutes an interesting historical curiosity.

JOINT ARMY CAMP IS PLANNED

War Office Chiefs Will Bring Regulars and Militiamen Together.

Washington, July 10.—The war department is planning for a joint encampment of the regular troops stationed in the department of the lakes and the militia of several middle western states. It is proposed to hold the encampment at West Point, Ky. The scheme when broached to General Bates, commanding the department of the lakes, received his approval. He reported that thirty companies of regular troops and nine regiments of national guardsmen in the middle west could attend the joint encampment. Officials of the department feel sure that such an encampment would bring beneficial results, especially to the militia, and it is practically settled that the plan will be carried out this summer.

DISCUSS THE OPIUM MEASURE

Argument Over the Prohibition Bill Continues at Manila.

Manila, June 10.—The public discussion of the opium bill was continued before the United States commission today. American lawyers representing the Asiatic local syndicates and also the monopolists operating in Hongkong and Singapore argued in favor of the adoption of the bill, and quoted statistics showing that the rapid spread of the opium habit had been undermining the Philippines since the expiration of the Spanish monopoly.

On cross-examination the opponents of the bill proved that many signers of the Chinese chamber of commerce's mammoth protest are the chief importers and distributors of opium, and that hence they are occupying an untenable position, in favoring a prohibition which, if effective, would ruin the signers.

Commissioner Smith charged the editors of the newspapers here who had cabled a protest against the bill to Washington with being destroyers of the congress of the United States. Final action in the matter is indefinitely delayed.

Proposition Made to Await President Marroquin's Signature.

Hogota, July 10.—Former President Caro continued the debate on the Hay-Herran canal treaty today. He proposed that the senate abstain from considering the canal treaty until President Marroquin attaches his signature to it, and that the United States be requested to extend the ratification period in case of a delay.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

Prince Adalbert, third son of Emperor William of Germany, will join the German east Asiatic squadron in October for a year, but he will probably return by way of the United States in time to visit the St. Louis exposition.

Pulaski Leeds, master mechanic of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, was shot and dangerously wounded at Louisville by G. B. Werner, a discharged employe. Werner then shot himself through the mouth, inflicting a fatal wound.

Emperor William has begun his voyage to Norway on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern. The emperor is accompanied by Prince Albert of Schleswig-Holstein, Prince von Stayn-Wittgenstein, and a number of high military and naval officers.

The condition of W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., who was injured by an explosion of an automobile lamp Friday evening while out riding in Paris, is said not to be serious, but one of his eyes is affected and he is kept in a dark room at his hotel.

The beautiful $60,000 cruciform chapel of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd at their house at Detroit, Mich., was consecrated yesterday by Archbishop Falconio, papal delegate at Washington, with a solemn pontifical high mass.

In English, Ind., a fashionable club of young men known as "The Cellibates" has been organized. The members pledge themselves not to marry any woman lacking those qualities which the cellibates' mothers possessed and cultivated for the purpose of making themselves perfect helpmeets to their husbands.

William Glick was found dead in a shed behind his residence at Eau Claire. The body was hanging from a beam by a strap fastened about the neck. He had been despondent for some time and was in poor health. He was 44 years old.

Ed Zamarski is lying at the general hospital at Pine City suffering from a number of severe knife thrusts in the head. The skull is laid bare in a number of places. Zamarski and a neighbor named Mike Queoff got into a fight and the stabbing resulted.

URGES JEWISH LEADERS TO HURRY THE PETITION

Secretary Hay Conveys President's Request That Delay Be Avoided In Filing the Appeal.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Washington, July 10.—Secretary Hay held a conference with Jewish leaders and communicated to them the president's desire that they call at Oyster Bay next Tuesday to consult respecting the disposition to be made of the Jewish petition to Russia regarding the Kishineff affair. The secretary emphasized the president's desire that there be no further delay in the submission of the petition.

It is probable the course to be pursued will consist in the dispatch of cablegrams to Mr. Riddle, United States charge at St. Petersburg, directing him to inquire of the Russian government whether it is willing to receive the petition. Further proceedings will be governed by the Russian answer.

The president has decided that the Jewish petition must be disposed of before any further effort is made to compose the issues arising out of the Manchurian situation. Nothing is likely to be done in regard to Manchuria until September, by which time, according to the last Russian engagement, the evacuation of Manchuria should be complete.

It is understood that the Russian government has set up as one reason for not sanctioning the opening of new ports in Manchuria the necessity of allowing her first to complete the evacuation of Manchuria.

GIBBONS WILL HAVE SOME VOTES

If an American Should Be Selected for Pope It Would Not Excite Much Jealousy.

Rome, July 10.—The temporary improvement in the condition of the pontiff today induced prudence among the cardinals in canvassing for his successor. It is learned that a small group, in the event of Pope Leo's death, will vote for Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, who, being an American, will not excite the jealousy of the European powers, and, if elected, would interrupt the long succession of Italian popes with evident benefit to the real interest of the church.

KOCH'S VIEWS NOW BELIEVED

Experiments Prove That His Theory as to Consumption Were Absolutely Correct.

Berlin, July 10.—The commission appointed by the Berlin Medical society to learn the effects of human tubercular germs on calves today made the following report:

"The series of experiments strengthen Prof. Koch's view that animal consumption does not place the role generally attributed to it, but definite judgment requires further experimentation."

The commission inoculated calves not with matter taken directly from human victims, but with cultures made therefrom. The experimentation covered thirty-nine separate cultures, twenty-three from adults and sixteen from children. The results were that nineteen calves subcutaneously treated did not show the slightest effect, nine showed after four months the slightest changes of condition, and seven showed more marked symptoms, but the propagation of tuberculosis in the body did not occur. On the other hand, four inoculations from tuberculosis children infected calves with a disease which resembled a weak type of animal consumption, and two of this number died of tuberculosis.

Chamberlain's Chances.

Secretary Joseph Chamberlain's tooters still insist that he is going to win. In this connection they are recalling what a British sailor said to his mate when Nelson died: "Jack, do you think that the admiral is in heaven?" asked the mate. "I don't know," said Jack, "but you can bet your life if he wants to go there no one can keep him out."

Reconstruction.

The little man had listened to his father talk politics, but he took little interest in his own history lessons. "Now, Arthur," said his teacher, "tell me what the reconstruction period was?" The word reconstruction was familiar to Arthur, so he had an answer ready. "Please, ma'am," he said, "it was a time when the president was putting in all his friends and firing those of the other party."

Japanese Use Bicycles.

Japan is getting the bicycle craze; it imported $2,700,000 worth of wheels last year, mostly of the cheaper grades, costing from $12 to $25. They are chiefly used for business purposes; also in the army.

Valuable Library.

The Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths has presented to the University of London the whole of the valuable library of economic literature which it purchased some ten years ago from Professor Foxwell.

AMES BEGINS HIS SENTENCE

The Ex-Chief of Police of Minneapolis Goes to State Prison for Six Years.

WAS A GRAFTER

He and His Brother Levied Tribute for Many Years Past, in Minneapolis.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) St. Paul, July 10.—A closing chapter in the famous Ames case came this morning when ex-chief of police Fred Ames was taken to the penitentiary to serve a six years' sentence, being convicted of grafting, while in office.

Famous Case
This is about the end of one of the most famous cases that has ever occurred in the Northwest. Ames, and his brother, the Mayor had the city completely under their control, and grafted right and left.

Bitter Trial
Ames and his brother both made a fight in the courts but by the aid of former confederates they were convicted of accepting bribes and Fred Ames this morning began his six years' sentence. He was formerly a Col. in the Thirtieth Minnesota volunteers and left the service in the Philippines.

GERMANS MAKING MANY COMPLAINTS

Want the Meat Inspector of American Meat Abolished at Once.

Berlin, July 10.—The German meat law, which went into effect in April, is having more serious consequences commercially than anticipated. The German merchants complain that they are placed at a great disadvantage in transit trade. They had hitherto supplied Austria and Switzerland with American meats and, sending directly from the bonded warehouses without expense. The German shippers, therefore, are calling loudly for the abolition of the inspection requirements in the case of export goods.

OLD GRADS MET IN LONDON TOWN

Discussed Modern Educational Progress and Proposed Many Plans.

London, July 10.—The conference of the graduates and undergraduates of the colonial universities, called to discuss the ordination of university education throughout the British Empire and the development of post-graduate courses in applied science, opened today under the presidency of James Bryce, M. P. Practically all of the home and colonial universities were represented. Resolutions were adopted in favor of the ordination of the universities of the empire, the development of post-graduate courses and the appointment of the council to carry out these objects.

Testament Kissed 100,000 Times.

For swearing a jury at an inquest at High Wycombe, England, Mr. Charley, the coroner for South Bucks, recently used a New Testament printed in the year 1798. The book, which has been in constant use by Mr. Charley, his father and grandfather for 105 years, and is still in good condition, originally cost 9d. At the lowest computation the volume must have been kissed 100,000 times.

Centenary Firms.

A few years ago an association of centenary firms and corporations of the United States was organized with the motto: "Gallant the Tooth of Time and the Razor of Oblivion." No firm which has not been managed for a hundred years by the same family is eligible for membership. The association already has nearly fifty members, and will hold a convention in Philadelphia this summer.

Lynchers and Moujiks.

M. de Plehve, Russian Minister of the Interior, in a letter to Arnold White of London, explaining the causes which led to the Kishineff outbreak, says of the Russian peasants: "Excited by race and religious hatred, and under the influence of alcohol, they were worse than the people of the Southern States of America when they lynch negroes."

Monument to Pigeons.

M. Fremlet, the French sculptor, has received a commission for a monument to be erected in Paris, in memory of the pigeons which carried messages during the siege. At its commencement the institution of the pigeon post was marked service, and thousands of letters and dispatches were sent out from Paris by this means.

PROMOTION IN SIGHT FOR GENERAL YOUNG

General Miles' Successor Has Been Agreed Upon and Public Announcement Will Be Made.

Washington, July 10.—Gen. Young's promotion to the command of the army upon the retirement of Gen. Miles on Aug. 8 will be made within a few days by the war department. Brig. Gen. Leonard Wood will be promoted to the rank of major general and Brig. Gen. Samuel S. Sumner will be promoted to the major generality upon the retirement of Gen. George W. Davis on July 26.

These promotions have already been agreed upon, but will not be formally announced until Secretary Root returns from Oyster Bay, where he has gone for a conference with the president on army matters. Capt. J. J. Pershing, who distinguished himself in the Moro campaign, will also be promoted. Nominations of these officers will be sent to the senate when congress convenes. There is already some talk of opposition to the promotion of Gen. Wood to the rank of major general. Army officers are opposed to his promotion on the grounds that it will block for a great many years the advancement of older officers. Gen. Wood retires on Oct. 9, 1924, and his promotion to major general will make him in a few years the senior major general of the army and in line for advancement to lieutenant general. Should he be given this rank he will be in a position to hold it so long that no officer of the rank above that of major now in the service would be able to secure the grade of lieutenant general before Wood's retirement.

ADVERTISE FOR MORE POLICEMEN

The Russian Government Needs a Large Number of Officers at Present.

St. Petersburg, July 10.—The government has inserted the following advertisement in the Baltic newspapers:

"The Finnish gendarmerie authorities need immediately a large number of gendarmes subofficers who speak both Swedish and Finnish." The advertisement appears in the Baltic newspapers because persons speaking Estonian and German easily acquire the required languages.

Typewriter for Register: A new book typewriter has been received for the register of deed's office.

John McElroy has gone to Duluth to take up a position in the freight offices of the Northern Pacific road.

Mrs. O. H. Brand left today for Brooklyn, N. Y., where she is to be a guest of Mrs. C. R. Van Buskirk, formerly Miss Lillie Van Sicken of this city.

Wilson Lane returned to this city after a brief business trip this morning.

STATE NOTES

Racine capitalists are organizing a company for the establishment of a sanitary milk plant.

The grocery store of M. Nitschke at Appleton was burglarized by thieves, who secured about $10 worth of cigars.

The case of the Racine Woman's club against Mrs. Andrew Pierce, which attracted attention months ago, has been dropped.

Lawrence Helmer, son of Louis Helmer of the town of Plymouth, was drowned while bathing near Darrow's mill in the town of Sheboygan Falls.

Thomas F. Brannigan, a Beloit saloonkeeper, was fined for selling liquor on Sunday contrary to law. This is his third conviction on similar offenses within the past few months.

Mrs. Chris Nelson of Chicago is looking for a well Milwaukee man whom she believes robbed her of $30 and valuable jewelry while she was asleep on a Barry boat, bound for Racine.

Fred W. Kromrey and Louis S. Hambacher, members of the grocery firm of Kromrey & Hambacher at La Crosse, are on trial in the circuit court on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses.

Alex Gaskonski, Emil Young, Emil Kamps, and Alex Mindak of Grand Rapids have brought suit for damages against the Milwaukee road for running them down on a street crossing, without ringing the engine bell.

Dr. R. M. Kluner of La Crosse received a telegram from California saying that oil had been encountered on property of the Wisconsin Gold Bond Oil company, the stockholders of which are mostly La Crosse people.

Arrests are likely to be made today of two young men at Rosendale, who are accused of demanding all the money in possession of a farmer and threatening to return and burn his buildings if complaint was made.

The little five-year-old daughter of James Delaney of Duck Creek, near Green Bay, is in a critical condition as the result of burns received Wednesday night. She was playing with matches when her clothing caught fire.

Slightly Mistaken.

"They" wrote a Kansas City reporter, having reference to two men who were saved after being in the flood two days, "suffered terribly. They were without food or water."

RIOTING OVER IN INDIANA

Evansville Is Quiet Now, and Governor Durbin Removed the Troops Today.

FEAR NO TROUBLE

The Police Are Armed with Rifles, and Ready to Cope with the Crowds.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.) Evansville, July 10.—The last of the state troops left this morning, and the city is fast regaining its normal condition. Business has been resumed and there is little prospect of further trouble. The streets are quiet and negroes are at work. The troops were ordered away by Gov. Durbin after a long conference with the Mayor and the local police officers have been armed with rifles to prevent any further disturbances, should they occur.

Funerals Quiet

There were seven funerals and were conducted quietly. The ministers in one or two cases prayed for the city and county administrations, and said this was not a time for criticism, but for sympathy for the friends of the dead.

Two more of the wounded are pronounced by the surgeons to be in a critical condition. Adam Browksland and John Bee are sinking, and if they die the list of fatalities will be increased to twelve.

The grand jury is taking testimony on Monday night's shooting. Several prominent citizens were examined with reference to any connection they might have had with the looting of the gun stores by the mob.

Refugees at Mount Vernon.

Mount Vernon, Ind., July 10.—Over 200 colored refugees from Evansville have reached here on trains, in vehicles and by walking. They report that they were warned to leave Evansville or be killed. Many received threats that their houses would be burned. Several in the delegation were wounded and had arms in slings.

Drive Negroes From Town.

Sour Lake, Tex., July 10.—Word reached here that a brakeman, Bud Thompson, had been shot and fatally wounded by a negro at Nome Junction. Thompson's condition is reported critical.

Indignation was expressed, and in a few minutes notices were posted in twenty-five or thirty conspicuous places about town. They read:

"Nigger, don't let the sun go down on you in Sour Lake tonight."

Many negroes hastily left the city. Over fifty left for Houston and Beaumont. Many walked out of town.

Two camps of negroes, one in the "Shoe String" district of the oil field, and the other composed of construction forces of the Southern Pacific, were raided by a mob of 500 men. The blacks fled precipitately. About 100 shots were fired. It is not known whether any of the negroes were killed or wounded, as the shooting was in the darkness.

BANQUET GIVEN TO THE OFFICERS

Naval Squadron Are the Guests of Honor at an Elaborate Function.

London, July 10.—Today was a season of activity for a good number of the officers of the United States squadron now at Portsmouth. To begin with, a luncheon was given in their honor by the Pilgrim's Society at the Carlton hotel, with Vice Admiral Lord Charles Beresford in the chair. Rear Admiral Cotton was on his right and Captain Prince Louis of Battenberg on his left.

Others of the central table were Senator A. P. Gorman, General Lord Grenfell, United States Ambassador Choate, Admiral Sir J. Dairymple Hay and Senator Chauncey M. Depew. Altogether about 160 persons sat down to luncheon.

Lord Beresford and Admiral Cotton were the only speakers of the occasion. The former gave the toasts of "The King," "The President" and "The United States Navy." Admiral Cotton responded. In the course of his remarks Lord Beresford spoke of the tremendous reception which the president of the United States would get if he should come to London—"a reception," he said, "which in enthusiasm would be greater than any foreign visitor ever had on these shores."

Speculation.

When a pickpocket well known to the New York police was arraigned on the charge of extracting a man's wallet from his pocket on a street car he gave his occupation as that of a broker and speculator. "Do you mean that you speculate on the money you will find in a man's pocket?" asked the magistrate sarcastically. "No," replied the thief, "I speculate on whether or not I will be caught."

WARD ELECTION NOT ASSURED

POSSIBILITY OF REVERSAL IN THE SECOND.

MANY VOTES WERE LOST

S. C. Hamilton Shows That Missing
Ballots Outnumbered Plurality—Possibility of Error.

If every person recording a vote in the second ward in the last municipal election, had balloted for alderman, the result might have been directly opposite to what it was. This is the conclusion which S. C. Hamilton reaches in a tabulation which he has made based on the election statistics. He does not say that Alderman Connell would have lost, but he shows that the plurality over the closest rival for the office was less than the number of votes lost through failure of voters to ballot on a complete ticket.

S. C. Hamilton is a shrewd statistician, and his figures furnish opportunity for interesting speculation. It might be noted, however that he is not compiling tables for any mere pleasure which the result of the computation may afford him. His purpose in the figures is to show that errors arise through the use of paper ballots which would be less likely to occur if voting machines were used. Mr. Hamilton is an agent of the same firm which has furnished the city of Milwaukee with a large number of machines. One of his instruments is on exhibition in the city hall, and he hopes that a complete set of them will be in service at the next election held in this city.

The following are the figures which Mr. Hamilton has prepared, based on the last spring election:

The City Officers

Result of Figures
From the above figures Mr. Hamilton draws the following reductions: For the seven offices there were in the City of Janesville, 2,732 votes that have never been accounted for. In the vote for Alderman in the Second Ward, the number of votes lost for that office is larger than the plurality of the successful candidate and in the Fifth ward it is within two votes of being as large. (See figures marked X in the table.)

It so happens that for most of the city officers the larger number of the votes lost at this election did no particular harm, as only in two offices was there a close vote—alderman in the Second and Fifth wards.

Possible Difficulties
It will be readily seen, however, that had there been a close vote and so many votes for each of the officers unaccounted for there might very properly have been a demand for recounts and a situation might have been met with such as existed in Chicago, after the city election last May at which time a close vote for one office and a dispute over some questionable ballots resulted in a canvass of the entire returns, at a cost of $13,000.

Or such, perhaps, as existed at Racine at the election of last November when a tie vote was declared for the office of a member of Assembly, although there were 174 votes that were not counted for any candidate, for that office. At a special election which was held for that office, at a cost of $1,100, one of the candidates was elected by over 150 votes, which shows pretty conclusively that if every voter who intended to vote for some candidate for Member of Assembly at the first election, had been able to do so without spoiling his ballot, and had his vote counted, a second election would probably not have been necessary.

How It Occurred
As to how so many votes were lost for the offices in the city election here it is impossible to say positively, the ballots having been destroyed. It is possible that a good many voters, in attempting to vote a "straight ticket" made the cross under the first name in the party columns instead of over it, which was of course counted as a vote for that office only leaving all the other names on the ticket blank. Regarding the number of votes lost for all the offices, the most reasonable explanation is that some voters did not make any marks on their ballots at all, and that others spoiled the ballot in attempting to "split" their tickets.

Attention is here called to the fact that, had voting machines been in use at these elections, these lost votes could not have occurred as the machine is so constructed that when the voter once closes the curtain of the machine he cannot open it until he has voted a ballot of some kind, and when he registers that ballot by opening the curtain, it is impossible for it to be counted for anyone but the candidate for whom it was cast. It is impossible to spoil the ballot.

WALTON PYRE HAS A GOOD COMPANY

His Production of a Russian Honeymoon Last Night, Was Most Excellent.

Janesville audiences are usually cold; are usually very biased and inclined to be critical of even the best histrionic productions that appear on the boards of the Myers Grand. During the past winter many of America's best actors and actresses have visited the city and have gone away feeling far from the manner they had been received. Last night Mr. Walton Pyre and his company of players presented "A Russian Honey-moon." Interest grew as the play progressed and curtain calls were repeated each time the curtain went down at the end of an act. In fact as the play plot thickened the interest of the audience increased and the final culmination at the close was most warmly received.

Pretty Faces
It was a relief to see the fresh faces of the company. Faces that had not been accustomed to the rouge and paint of the stage-bred ladies and gentlemen. It was charming to hear the sweet young voices say their lines and see the whole souled manner in which they entered into the action of the play as it progressed. It was not only a revelation to old theater goers but a delightful change from the usual humdrum performance of the regular road company.

Well Staged
The play was well staged. In fact it was handsomely staged and the work of Mr. Pyre in having the properties, the gowns and the surroundings all corresponding exactly to the time and country of the play presented was noticed. His careful work in training the entire cast and the remarkable smoothness of the whole production showed clearly that a master hand controlled affairs behind the big drop curtain.

Good Cast
Of course Mr. Pyre as Alexis, the disguised Gustave Worofski, was most prominent. His work was not only clever but also masterful and he never for a second forgot to play the part of the shoemaker he pretended to be. In the last two years Mr. Pyre has progressed wonderfully and his experience as stage manager and his experience as company amply of the Otis Skinner company amply the qualified him to produce the play in excellent manner it was. Miss Elizabeth Shepard as Poleska, the tyrannical wife, was excellent. Miss Shepard has wonderful talent and her portrayal of the difficult character assigned to her gives promise of a stage future should she care to follow it.

Miss La Follette
Miss Fola La Follette, the eldest daughter of Governor La Follette, has caught her father's snap and swing and her characterization of Michelle, the peasant's daughter, was most pleasing. She not only has a chic face but her stage presence is excellent, and her dainty manners won her the warm admiration of the audience at the start. As Baroness Vladimir, Caroline Polier, really Mr. Pyre's sister, Miss Pyre, took the house by storm. She was the haughty court lady, unbending, pleasing in manner and her enunciation was most clear. Mr. Krembs, Ralph Rounds, and E. A. Bredin were all good in their parts and the music of the chorus composed of Madison young ladies and gentlemen showed the careful training of the musical director, E. A. Bredin. The company plays in Madison tonight.

CITY DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Charles H. Smith
The funeral of Mrs. Charles H. Smith will be held at two o'clock Saturday afternoon from the home, 16 Oaklawn, and at three o'clock there will be a service at the Baptist church, the Reverend H. M. Vaughan officiating. The Relief Corps will be in charge of the funeral and interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

WANTED A POLE MOVED ELSEWHERE

Franklin Street Resident Did Not Want Interurban Pole To Cut Off His View.

D. C. Burdick objects the establishment of trolley poles directly in front of his home on South Franklin street. Consequently he strenuously voiced his disapproval when interurban linemen yesterday attempted to move one of their poles from its former position to a new location, directly in front of his house.

The pole was moved in accordance with an order of the city council, its former position having ruined the appearance of the face of the new federal building.

Mr. Burdick remonstrated strongly, and when he found his words ineffective he stationed himself in the hole which had been dug.

Finally Supt. Nutt arrived in the city and upon receiving orders to go ahead the linemen pulled Mr. Burdick out of the hole, inserted the pole in his place, and filled up the hole.

TEN THOUSAND MEN WANTED

This Is the Official Estimate of Harvest Hands Needed in the Northwest.

The northern coast lines have joined in a request to the St. Paul, Chicago lines for special low rates between Chicago and St. Paul, to be used in connection with low rates from St. Paul west, for the purpose of securing harvest hands for the wheat growers of western Minnesota and the Dakotas. Coast lines have agreed to make a rate of $5 for harvest hands in parties of five from St. Paul to all harvest points.

No reply has yet been received to the request, but it is considered probable that the Chicago lines will grant a reasonable concession from their respective tariffs northbound.

Must Report
The Great Northern yesterday issued circulars to agents in Minnesota and the Dakotas, instructing them to make a careful investigation and report not later than Tuesday of next week the condition of crops in each locality, the probable date of the beginning of the harvest and the number of men the farmers will need to take care of the crop. The northern Pacific will complete similar figures at once, to ascertain the exact need and better arrange to meet it.

The cry of harvest hands is more or less an annual occurrence, but this year men are hard to get and it will be difficult to induce them to come west. Carefully prepared estimates are that to put up the crop in the three states 10,000 men will be needed. The greater portion of these will necessarily come from the east, of St. Paul, since the local supply of labor is limited.

Wages Will Be High
Harvest wages will probably run from $2.50 to $3.50 a day. The Kansas harvest is nearing completion, and great difficulty has been experienced there in securing the needed help.

Eastern lines are co-operating with the Northern lines in efforts to secure harvest labor. The principal systems east of Chicago are advertising the need of men in the West, giving the dates of the probable opening of the harvest work, and urging unemployed labor to go west and make money. Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati, and St. Louis labor agencies are in active correspondence with the St. Paul railway headquarters and are preparing to conduct their own campaign for men.

Salt Preserves Coal.

Recently experiments with a view to preserving the calorific properties of hard coal by immersion in salt water were made, and it was demonstrated that a loss of but 1 per cent occurred. Stored in the ordinary way coal loses about 50 per cent of its calorific power. Rainsodden coal is said to cause bunker fires, but the effects of coal soaked in sea water yet remains to be seen.

Cares for Sick Pets.

Virginia Pope of New York, three years ago chanced upon a novel way of earning a living by opening a boarding house and hospital for sick birds. Last summer 500 pets were placed in her charge by owners leaving town. Miss Pope makes the interesting assertion that birds are peculiarly subject to various forms of heart disease, their nerves being easily shocked.

That New Office Boy.

It was one of the recent damp, chilly mornings that the members of a manufacturing firm were together in the private office looking over the morning mail, when one said to the other: "That's a pretty heavy draft from the West." Instantly the new office boy jumped to his feet and exclaimed: "I'll fix that, sir!" and closed the window that had been left open for ventilation.

Correct Presents for Oriental Maids.

The correct presents for little Oriental maids are gold or silver coins, which are sewn on their caps and strung as necklaces, being part of their dower. If one is lost, the neighbors are called to help find it, and when found, all join in the jubilant cry, "Yoo, yoo, yoo!"

HEAVY STORM LEFT ITS TRACES

SHADE TENT ON THE HEDDLES
FARM DESEROYED.

MUCH GRAIN BLOWN DOWN

Telephone Lines Were Sufferers from Strength of Blast—Marzluff
Walls Were Razed.

Extensive damage was done by the heavy thunderstorm which arose at about six o'clock last evening. In every part of the city trees were mercilessly shorn of their branches, in the gardens the plants were leveled to the ground, and the farmers will feel its effect.

Perhaps the greatest damage done was at the S. B. Heddles farm at the west of the city, where he has an acre of Sumatra tobacco growing under canvas. The tent cloth was utterly demolished, and an entirely new covering will be required. The young plants were unharmed. The loss is estimated by Mr. Heddles at between six and seven hundred dollars.

On Milton avenue one field of seven-and-one-half-foot corn was leveled, and the same condition existed in many other fields.

Small plants and flowers in the gardens were given like treatment, and may not recover readily from the effects of the devastating wind. Hundreds of tree branches were torn off. In the courthouse park the ground was strewn with small limbs, and the park keepers were at work early this morning repairing the damage and carrying away the traces of the storm.

The telephone lines suffered. On the Rock county switch board a large quantity of the toll lines were out of service last evening. In the city a number of wires were down. The Wisconsin company fared but little better. Both their Evansville and Milwaukee lines were broken, and in the region of Hickory street in this city extensive damage was done.

Stock belonging to the Art Study company, which was being moved into the old cotton mill building, was struck by the rain and damaged. The first blast opened a part of the roof, through which the water poured.

The walls of the old Marzluff shoe factory, which were destroyed by fire two years ago, were blown down by the first fierce gust.

On the old high school building a part of the main chimney was blown down. Several chimneys on private houses suffered.

Tables and chairs standing on the veranda at the golfhouse were picked up by the gale and carried across the links. The tables were the worse for the journey.

A Milton avenue car on the street (highway) was delayed by a large tree which fell across the trolley wire. Some damage was done the fire alarm telegraph system. At the time of one of the first crashes all of the call bells in the city began ringing and continued steadily for some time.

Among storm damages reported were the following:

Mrs. Mole's barn near the cemetery was damaged.

To the north and east of the city nearly one-half of the windmills were disabled.

C. C. Decker's barn was damaged. A barn belonging to Thomas McCann was injured.

A large barn on the farm of C. Howarth was totally destroyed at a loss of six hundred dollars.

H. H. Palfay's barn was damaged. J. Pitcher's barn was damaged.

Ten windmills on the Johnstown road were damaged.

On the farm of Mrs. Arthur Carter two windmills and a barn were damaged.

On the Smith farm a barn was blown down, and a survey and binder damaged.

Some brick drying stacks at the Field brick yards were blown down, among them some which J. A. Denning was in the process of building.

The Friedman tobacco warehouse slight damage.

Ancient Moral Maxims.

The oldest collection of moral maxims known is that of the Presse papyrus, dated 2,600 years B. C., recently found in a tomb at Thebes. They have been translated by Philippe Virey, the famous French Egyptologist, and rival in excellence the proverbs of the Hebrews.

Rebel Exile Returns.

Gabriel Dumont, who was Louis Riel's right-hand man in the rebellion in northwest Canada eighteen years ago, has returned to the territory from this country, where he has been living since his chief was executed after the suppression of the trouble.

Eloquent Silence.

W. W. Astor has offered $1,000 to erect a statue of William the Silent. There was a good deal of talk about the project before Mr. Astor, who is expatriated, offered his contribution. Now, every one is as silent as the original William.—Boston Advertiser.

The Power of Radium.

Bequerel has shown that radium emits cathode rays moving at a velocity of over 120,000 miles per second. A particle traveling with this velocity and starting from the earth would reach the moon in two seconds.

Women Work in Male Attire.

Women are employed on the gardening staff at Kew Gardens, England, on condition that they work in male attire. A young woman is in charge of the herbaceous and Alpine plant department at the present time. The women gardeners go through a two years' course of study at Kew.

DOINGS AT THE RAILWAY CENTER

Personals of Employees in the Local Yards and Along the Line.

Many telegraph lines were in bad condition this morning. The Mineral Point wires were down and also between here and Watertown and Harvard. At Gratiot two buildings were blown from their foundations. The storm was especially severe at Milton; at six-forty p. m. the train between Lima and Milton was obliged to stop on the road, until the wind and rain ceased. A freight standing in the yards loaded with tobacco, had the roof entirely blown away but the contents were not damaged.

The Italian laborers on the North-Western road, who have been working near the belt line switch will now go to Shopley as most of the work here has been finished. About ten sleeping and living cars will take them.

B. Riedy, ticket agent of the North-Western line, went to Chicago this morning.

W. Winton, district passenger agent, was in the city today.

Engineer Otto Schlecker, of the St. Paul road, is off duty.

CREDITORS WILL GET LITTLE

Porter Brothers Fruit Company of San Francisco Has Few Assets.

San Francisco, Cal., July 10.—Henry L. Wilson of Chicago, one of the two receivers of the Porter Brothers company, who is here looking into the affairs of the big fruit concern, stated that comparison of the assets and liabilities of the concern presents a very dubious outlook for the creditors. Mr. Wilson gave out the information that the company probably would not be able to pay 50 cents on the dollar in any settlement that might be made with its creditors and owing to the unsatisfactory condition of the company's affairs he would not venture a prediction as to what would be the outcome of the receivership. The principal western creditors are banks, six of them in this city holding the firm's paper for $490,000. Mr. Wilson says it is difficult to decide what will be the outcome of the company's financial difficulties.

BREAK IN FIVE WEEKS' SLEEP.

Harvard Man Regains Consciousness for a Few Minutes.

Long Branch, N. J., July 10.—For the first time in five weeks C. Endicott Allen has stood up and talked. Allen, who is a Harvard graduate, has been asleep longer than a month, except for intervals of a few moments. He is supposed to be suffering from hysteria. His waking spell did not last long, but the physicians believe he will recover.

WOMAN IS CLUBBED TO DEATH.

Body of Doctor's Wife Is Found in Shanty at Terre Haute.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 10.—The mutilated body of Mrs. Mary Gilmore was found in a shanty west of the Wabash river. She had been beaten to death with a club.

She was the wife of Dr. A. H. Gilmore of this city, but had not been living with her husband for some time.

Shopper Loses Diamonds.

Vincennes, Ind., July 10.—Mrs. Catherine Lantane, while out shopping, lost a chamol's skin bag containing three diamond rings and two brooches, valued at over $2,000.

Boon for Busy Men.

St. Paul, Minn., July 10.—A private sanitarium will be established in Itasca County, Minnesota, where men fatigued out from business worry may enjoy recuperation.

Mother Jones on March.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 10.—Police interference threatened Mother Jones and her little band of textile workers, who are marching to New York.

Powder Works Explosion.

Oakland, Cal., July 10.—The Hercules powder works near Pinole blew up and several persons were badly injured.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The Imperial council, Mystic Shrine, will meet at Atlantic City, N. J., in 1904.

Elmer McGilney, aged 21 years, of Pittsburg, Pa., was drowned in Gull lake, Michigan, while swimming.

Byron West of Kansas City, who deserted from the naval training ship Charleston at Charleston, S. C., last November, was arrested at his home.

George Hall of La Crosse, Wis., discovered the home of Miss Anna Thompson on fire and carried her from the burning building. The smoke had deadened her senses.

Mikado Buys Auto.

Toledo, O., July 10.—A steam carriage has just been completed in this city for the Emperor of Japan.

College Cheering.

"Everything moves faster now than it used to," said a young college graduate, "including college cheering, the tempo of which has been considerably accelerated within comparatively recent years. The old grad joining in nowadays to swell his college cheer finds that he must holler faster than he used to, or else he'll be left behind."

IN THE DEPTHS OF THE EARTH

A proposal to install several hundred subterranean observatories at depths of anywhere from a few hundred yards to a mile or so, may appear sufficiently startling.

It ceases to be so, however, when we learn that the observers themselves are to be on the earth's surface; it is only their instruments that it is proposed to place so far underground, and these may be lowered into borings such as are now made for artesian wells.

The principal measurements would be of temperature but it is claimed by M. A. Laisant, who advocates the plan, that its results would add greatly to our knowledge of the earth's crust and its phenomena, both normal and abnormal.

M. Laisant sets forth his plan in La Raison, as follows:

"While astronomical instruments involve considerable expense on account of their high precision, the apparatus in use for meteorological observations cost much less, and this would also be true for those that would be employed in subterranean. It would be sufficient to sink at a certain number of properly chosen points holes in the same manner as artesian wells, or, still better, in the way that is used in America to bore for petroleum. The depth would be more or less considerable according to the region and the nature of the geological strata; it should be governed by data known to science, but should in general be as great as possible. It would probably not be chimerical to think of reaching a depth of several kilometers in some places, while in others a few hundred meters might suffice.

"As to the locations of the borings and their number here, too, geologists can furnish the necessary indications. Deep borings while in course of making will give interesting geological information, since they will furnish continuously specimens of the strata traversed, which may be studied and analyzed. When the boring has once been finished, it will be easy to introduce into it measuring apparatus, and especially thermometers. The study of the pressure at these great depths, that of the composition of the gases that are encountered, the electric and magnetic state of the medium and other elements will possess equally great interest. With the registering apparatus now at our disposal most of the indications mentioned will be easy to obtain when the installations have once been made without the necessity of displacing the instruments.

"When a large part of the surface of the globe has thus been covered with subterranean observatories properly located, the systematic centralization of the observations and daily exchanges of them, will soon furnish an important contribution to terrestrial physics, and we shall see that there is a necessary correlation between the variations of temperature, pressure, etc., at the different spots and also between these variations and certain exterior phenomena."

OBSERVATIONS

The happiest woman is she who is praised and appreciated by the man whom she loves. When this falls her she draws a blank in life's game of chance.

A woman is most beautiful when she is loved and loved. The woman who has never loved lacks the divine inspiration in her face that is the spirit of love.

When a husband boasts of his respect for his wife, you can gamble on it that his love has been so beautifully frapped that only the ice floe of respect is left.

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, July 10, 1863.—"The Iron Brigade."—This declaimed band of veterans has again covered itself with glory in the desperate battle of the 1st Inst., near Gettysburg. London's Ambulance Service.

One of the most urgent needs of the metropolis is a properly organized and well equipped municipal ambulance service, says the London Express.

London is the only great European city which is lacking in an effective service of this kind, and there is no European city in which it is wanted more, for according to the latest returns, there is an average of 500 serious street accidents every week in the year, and of these the police ambulances can deal with only 200 at the outside.

The metropolitan asylum board has a complete horsed ambulance service in existence, maintained in a high state of efficiency in order to meet sudden outbreaks of infectious disease. Under normal conditions, however, the service is far larger than the requirements, and the board is accordingly planning to extend this into a regular municipal service.

In London there is no uniform system in dealing with street accidents, the central authority controlling ambulances and keeping in close touch with the hospitals. Even the telephone is an unknown as an adjunct to the haphazard systems which exist. Thus the London hospital is reticent in dealing with street accidents, cases in cabs and carts of those conveyed in our antiquated ambulances.

To the objections which are urged against using infectious ambulances for ordinary cases it is pointed out that there are only two infectious diseases which might be communicated to a sufferer in a journey to a hospital—small-pox and scarlet fever—and especial ambulances are retained for those cases, and are disinfected continuously.

In Liverpool and Manchester there are six horsed ambulances under the control of the police. In Birkenhead, Newcastle, Hull, Leeds, and many other towns, horsed ambulances can be called to any part by means of street telephone call boxes. In New York, a surgeon, with surgical appliances and medicines accompanies the ambulance to the scene of the accident. In most American towns the pair-horsed ambulances flash through the street like fire engines, and there are always horses ready to be harnessed, and doctors to be on duty. The average

How to Split the Biscuit.

A Most Delicious Dessert

Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit is made in the most hygienic and scientific food laboratory in the world. The wheat is spun into light shreds, containing thousands of open pores and is not crushed flat and dense as in the case of other foods. These pores absorb the digestive juices and provide far greater surface for their action than is given by any other food.

The following simple "course before coffee" is much in vogue with club men everywhere. The simplicity of preparation and the little cost, together with the delicious taste of the biscuits, make this dessert in rare favor in the home.

USE SEASONABLE FRUIT AND

SHREDDED WHOLE WHEAT BISCUIT

Split and slightly toast the Biscuit, then serve with berries, sliced peaches, bananas or any seasonable fruit. Simple, isn't it? Your verdict will be

"Simply Delicious"

For Shortcake—With sharp knife halve the SHREDDED WHOLE WHEAT BISCUIT lengthwise; prepare pineapple or other fruit for sauce (or bananas or mixed fruit) and with fruit and add sugar and whipped cream.

not added. When serving, arrange halves in layers covered with fruit.

SHREDDED WHOLE WHEAT BISCUIT is sold by all grocers.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday, with probable thunder storms.

THE WORLD'S PRODUCT OF GOLD.

The world's production of gold is now reaching the normal amount which for some time was yearly produced before the Transvaal war closed the Rand mines. The Rand product for June showed a large increase over May, and the production in the first six months of this year indicates that the output for the whole year will aggregate about $50,000,000. The latest statistics available for the world's gold production, are those of the calendar year 1901, when the claim of the gold product was $263,000,000. This included $9,000,000 produced in South Africa. So far as known, the gold production outside of the Transvaal mines has continued at about the same rate as that of 1901, so that the world's production in 1903 should be that of 1901 plus the increase in the Transvaal yield. Those who are keeping a close watch upon this matter estimate that the output of the new gold this year will exceed $300,000,000. There is no reason to believe that there will be any material reduction in the world's gold product for some time. The output of the Rand mines should increase rather than decrease, and the enterprise of man is constantly at work to open new sources of supply. There seems to be cause to believe that the future gold mines of the largest production will be found far inside of the Arctic circle. Difficult as it is to penetrate those frozen regions, and more difficult yet to construct lines of transportation there, yet no difficulties are too great and no obstacles too high to stop the courage and enterprise of men in search of gold.

The importance of the large production of gold is seen when it is realized that all of the great nations of the globe are now on a gold basis. The more gold there is, the less will be the talk about free silver. The great output of gold in the last ten years has indeed operated distastefully to the silver cause to which William J. Bryan pinned his hope or reaching the presidency. In this connection, it is significant that Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, who resigned as president of the Brown university because of his advocacy of free silver in 1892, now acknowledges his error on the plea that he was misled as to the output of gold. He admits that that was an astounding mistake, and says that the enormous production of gold since 1890 has not only checked the fall of prices which had been going on since 1873, when the silver was demonetized, but has caused a considerable rise in value. Whatever may be thought of Dr. Andrews' reason for the error into which he was led, his recantation of the free silver heresy is significant of the great change in opinion that has taken place, and is an assurance for the future that there will be no turning aside from the gold standard. It may be said, however, that Dr. Andrews' error was not so much one of a misconception of the world's output of gold as it was an unaccountable moral defect. The proposition to put the United States on a free silver basis, in order that debtors might be able practically to repudiate 50 per cent of their indebtedness by making payment in a 50-cent dollar, involved a distinct moral issue, which a college president above all others should have been the first to perceive.

THE IMMIGRATION WAVE

It is certain now that the immigration movement for the fiscal year which ends at the close of the present month will be the largest in the American history. Heretofore that of the fiscal year 1882 held the record. The total in that year was 788,992.

A radical change in the character of the immigration has come in the twenty-one years. In 1882 the larger part of the arrivals were from the British islands, Germany and the Scandinavian countries. In 1903 and for the past few years the bulk of the immigration has been from Italy, Russia, Austria-Hungary and other parts of the eastern and south-eastern Europe. The number of illiterates is much greater now among the immigrants than it was a score of years ago, although our laws shut many of these out. There is a distinct deterioration in the character of the new arrivals, as most persons believe.

Yet the chances are that the bulk of the present immigration will be assimilated readily, and become a valuable addition to the country's population. It would be better for the country and better for the immigrant if fewer of them remained on the Atlantic coast than stay there now. The place for the newcomers is the middle west and the trans-Mississippi region. There is an abundance of room for all of them out here. Those who come into this locality will be likely to be far better in the long run than will those who stay on the east side of the Alleghenies. The West is having a greater degree of prosperity than it has ever known in all its past. All sorts of industries and activities here are flourishing. The additions which are being made to the population of the West are greater now than they were in the past decade, through the east, too, is expanding rapidly in inhabitants. The panic of 1893-97 hit the west somewhat harder than it did the east in an industrial way, and this fact was shown in the diminishing rate of population increase which was shown by the census of 1900. A gain for the West in this respect will undoubtedly be noticed in the returns for 1910.

President Roosevelt can now supplement his advertisements of the virtues of Porto Rico coffee with the expert opinion furnished by Dr. Wiley of the agricultural department as to the perils of cold tea and other obnoxious beverages.

One must hope that the English yacht clubs will not look upon this story about the dangers of drinking cold tea as a dastardly effort to depress and discourage Sir Thomas Lipton.

One gratifying feature of the situation is that the next time Gov. Durbin gives an order to put down a mob the would-be mobbers will not make the mistake of supposing that the order is bluff.

Now up steps nice Mr. Hearst and says that for the benefit of his papers he would accept the prominence of running at the head of the democratic ticket on their 1904 trip to defeat.

PRESS COMMENT

Milwaukee Sentinel: In spite of the fact that since the beginning no man has ever escaped death the Chinese highlanders' society has taken on the trouble of sentencing 300 San Francisco men to death.

Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat and Chronicle: Marconi is credited with the discovery of a cheap method for extracting oxygen from the air. Every baby can do that simply by breathing.

Chicago Record-Herald: According to the last census there are 344,292 men in the United States engaged in coal mining. The greater part of them are exposed day in and day out to just such a fearful fate as has befallen the 236 victims of the explosion in the mine at Hanna, Wyoming.

Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin: The Iowa platform shows that the endeavor to make the republican party in that state an under study of William Jennings Bryan in regard to the tariff has been met and conquered.

Louisville (Ky.) Times: A scientist says: "Will the gymnasium replace the corset?" If fashion decrees it the majority of women would do their best to wear it.

Milwaukee News: So long as Delaware continues to burn its negroes instead of disfranchising them, it may expect to merit the respectful consideration of the strenuous life.

Denver Republican: The German cartoonist who has been put in jail probably thinks he couldn't have been treated any worse in darkest Pennsylvania.

Salt Lake Tribune: By looking around a little graduates will probably find that they cannot get really everything they want by merely exhibiting their diplomas.

Chicago Record-Herald: Independence hall is in Philadelphia. It is about the only sign of independence that Pennsylvania has left.

New York Mail and Express: Colombia's protest against the Panama canal is truly touching. She wants about $20,000,000 more.

Loani and Meeting: On Monday the Loani hand will meet at the home of Miss Ludlow on South Main street. A picnic supper will be served at six o'clock. Each member is planning to take her own dishes.

JUNE IS NOT HOLDING UP

OTHER MONTHS USURPING ITS REPUTATION.

IS EVEN WITH PAST YEARS

Although Number of Licenses Granted Other Months Is Increasing, June Barely Holds Own.

Reference to the files in the county clerk's office shows that the record of the month of June for marriages has remained at a consistent level for several years.

During the month past thirty-seven licenses were issued. This is an advantage of only a single license over the preceding year when thirty-six couples were granted legal permission to wed.

During June, 1901, thirty-one licenses were granted.

But although the standard for June has remained at an even level, the number of licenses granted during the first six months has gone up somewhat, indicating that June no longer holds the preeminence it once did.

During the first six months of 1903, 161 licenses had been issued; in 1902, 154; and in 1901, 145.

May this past year had a record close upon June, and much nearer than it has been in years past. During that month County Clerk Starr and Deputy Clerk Nelson signed thirty licenses.

THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN DROWNED

Missing Tailor in Beloit, Causes the Police to Search the River—Had Money Troubles.

The police at Beloit dragged the upper mill race yesterday to see if they could find the body of Mr. Krutetz, the missing tailor who has his family in a fright, made way with himself. H. L. Hulbert, his employer, says he has not been well for some time and that his actions indicated an unbalanced mind. A new man went to work in the shop a short time ago and Mr. Krutetz imagined that he was bewitching the entire shop. Two of the tailors were taken sick after the new man came and this strengthened Mr. Krutetz's belief in bewitchment.

The man has a large family to support and has always been a sober and industrious workman. He was on piecework and frequently worked late into the evening. Mr. Hulbert told him he was overworking him and Mr. Krutetz said it did not tire him so his employer said no more.

It has been learned that the tailor was paid $9 too much by mistake Saturday night, and that he was troubled about money matters. This does not seem a sufficient reason, however, for him to desert his wife and family and the police are inclined to work on the suicide theory.

STORM RANGED IN THE COUNTY

Damage to Standing Crops and to Buildings Was Very Great.

Reports from throughout the county show that last night's wind storm did much damage in the city was fiercest in the county just adjacent to town and up above Milton towards Evansville. Mr. Pepper who lives on the Magnolia road reports that many windmills and tobacco sheds in his vicinity are down and badly wrecked. Grain and corn are also damaged, just how much he cannot say, but considerably. Orchards are almost stripped of the lighter limbs and in some cases many of the larger trees have lost so many limbs that their yield will be small even if the trees themselves are not killed.

Some of the Losses
At Grant Fisher's place window lights were broken and much damage done to the corn and fruit trees. At Charles Fisher's the windmill was destroyed and three large tobacco sheds were blown down and wrecked. John Goldsmith had the top of his tobacco shed blown off and at Damers' the windmill was blown onto the house, doing considerable damage.

Heavy Elsewhere
Reports from near Evansville and Edgerton show that the fury of the wind was almost that of a tornado and that much damage was done to growing corn and fruit trees. In several places residences suffered but for the greater part the damage was confined to the growing grain and tobacco sheds. Telephone communications were shut off and greatly damaged throughout the whole county.

DOINGS AT THE Y. M. C. A. BUILDING AT PRESENT

The state conference of the junior department of the Y. M. C. A. comes off at Phantom Lake, near Mukwonago, Wis., beginning July 15. Eight boys will represent the Janesville association and Dr. Richards will be present. Delegates will be present from associations in every part of the state. The boys who will go from this city are: Wallace Mills, Elmer Dreyer, Roy K. Kriesey, Ellisworth, Strang, Stuart Richards, Sterling Campbell. The conference will last for five days and many leading men in association work will be present and take part. It is expected that nearly fifty boys will be there, and altogether nearly one hundred people in the camp. A good cook and assistant have been secured from Milwaukee.

BARBERS' BOARD TO MEET HERE

IN MILWAUKEE ALL DAY YESTERDAY—HERE TONIGHT.

A CHANCE FOR APPLICANTS

M. H. Whittaker is the Man to Receive the Applications From.

Two hundred Milwaukee barbers took out their licenses from the new state board of barbers' commission at the Republican house yesterday.

This evening or tonight the commission will be in Janesville and all the Janesville barbers who have not yet filed their applications will have a chance to do so. The board will adjourn after a half day's session and then the applications must be forwarded from all over the state to M. H. Whittaker here who will send out the necessary papers which can then be sworn before a notary as true and returned to Mr. Whittaker when a license will be issued.

Old Days Gone

There was a time when the barbers used to pull teeth, bleed patients and do cupping. Legislation stopped that, and today the dentist and physician does this work.

Some day all states will get laws governing barbering and enforcing examinations. The board does not favor barber schools that pretend to turn out skilled workmen in six or eight weeks. All of their graduates can expect a rigid examination, and unless they can pass will get no license.

Inspect Shops

The board will meet again soon to inspect barber shops, not applicants, and will also consult with the state board of health with a view to getting up a set of rules for the sanitary regulation of the shops.

Many Barbers

There are about 4,000 barbers in the state, and the objects of the commission are to protect the public from unsanitary shops, and to improve the condition of the barbers by elevating the calling to the rank of a profession, and putting it on the same plane with pharmacy and dentistry.

Lake Geneva $1

An opportunity to visit beautiful Lake Geneva and to also make a round trip of its shores for the single price of $1 is offered by the Union S. S. excursion and picnic via the C. M. & St. P. R'y Tuesday, July 14th. Hundreds of people have enjoyed these trips heretofore and the extra inducement of the round trip on the lake will no doubt induce many who have not made the excursion to go this year. Tickets are on sale at S. C. Burnham & Co.'s and Hall, Sayles & Field's.

Band Concert Tonight: This evening the Imperial band will give a concert at the lower end of the courthouse park.

Miss Dorothy Madouze has gone to Prairie du Chien to visit her parents for a month.

A few bushels of large late cherries at Grubb's today. These are probably the last of the season, $1.75 per crate of 16-qt. full boxes.

Grubb's home-made and potato bread is the same price as any other, 5c a loaf or 6 for 25cts.

Grubb will have about two dozen 1½ to 2-lb. spring chickens Saturday morning, for your Sunday dinner.

Grubb is going to sell all kinds of his rich layer cakes at 10 cts. for a quarter of a cake instead of 15 cts. as formerly.

INSTITUTE GETS PUFF FROM CARY

The State Superintendent of Schools Congratulates County Superintendents on Work.

Last year's institute records have been smashed right and left by the summer training school for teachers in progress at the high school. From seventy-five the enrollment has increased to one hundred and eight today, and there will be another augmentation before the second week of the institute draws to a close.

State Superintendent of Schools C. P. Cary has written to one of the county superintendents expressing his pleasure in hearing of the large enrollment of this year. He regarded the program arranged this year as far superior to that of last year. The conductors say that the teachers are applying themselves with unusual enthusiasm.

In view of the large numbers who are attending the summer session of the Whitewater Normal school, who would otherwise be enrolled here, the attendance is the more notable.

ART LEAGUE HAS A NOVEL PICNIC

GAMES OF ANCIENT GREEKS ARE BEING PLAYED.

GUESTS OF MRS. FISHER TODAY

Prof. Wright Gave a Most Interesting Talk on the Hellenes of Long Ago.

It takes more than rain or a cloudy sky to deter the ladies of the Art League from enjoying a day at Mrs. Whitney Fisher's when a talk on the ancient Greeks and Greek games are in prospect. It was just ten o'clock when the big carryall left King's pharmacy filled with ladies of the league all bound for the suburban home of Mrs. Fisher, just outside the city limits.

Though the day was dark and cloudy the prospect of the good time in store deterred but few members from being on hand at the appointed hour.

Annual Event

This is the annual picnic at the Fisher homestead. Once each year the Art League drives out and spends the day hearing talks on the ancient Greeks, reading of the prowess and customs and perhaps imitating some of their games, especially for the women of the Hellenes. Today's program did not differ from the form usually carried out and after hearing a talk by Prof. Wright of Beloit college, a reading by Mrs. Day and a talk by Miss Iva Butlin, a recent graduate of Beloit, the regular games were held. Just what they consisted of was not stated by the ladies in charge but it is rumored that the discus throw, running races and perhaps a football kick of a more modern period were indulged in.

Supper at Six

Of course a lunch was served at noon, one of those kind the Fisher homestead is famous for and this evening at six the husbands of the ladies present are invited to come out for supper which will be served on the lawn if the weather permits.

Music Prepared

George Hatch with his harp was present this afternoon and in the evening he will render several old Greek musical selections especially arranged by Prof. Wright. The Art League has been studying the ancient Grecian customs and history all the past winter and under Prof. Wright's leadership and will continue it during the coming winter months.

To speak frankly its the family trade I'm after. A bargain on questionable goods will bring customers for a day—then they're gone—perhaps for good. If they come again its in a suspicious, beat-me-if-you-can manner. Such doing are not satisfactory to either party. Give the people good quality and fair treatment is my creed.

SYNOPSIS.

Chapter I.—The story opens with Alfred Bishop, a Georgia planter, closing a trade of $5,000 in mill stock for 5,000 acres of mountain land. Mrs. Bishop and their son Alan object to the trade. Mrs. Bishop's brother, Abner Daniel, tells a story. II.—The sale over. Bishop boasts that his land is on a prospective railroad. Tompkins, the former owner, has just unloaded a tract of 2,000 adjoining Bishop's. III.—Bishop goes to Atlanta to see Lawyer Perkins, who told him about the railroad. He has been deceived. The old man is so cast down that he returns without seeing his brother William or his daughter Adele, who is at her uncle's in Atlanta. IV.—Bishop has bought 20,000 acres of mountain land in all and mortgaged his plantation. Abner tells Rayburn to consult Miller, a land speculator. V.—Miller tells Alan about a dance at Darley. Alan's sweetheart, Dolly Barclay, will be there. Frank Hillhouse is attentive to Dolly. Craig, the banker. VI.—Dolly tells Alan that her father objects to his love quest. Barclay has also been caught on mountain land. VII and VIII.—Miller gives Alan cynical advice on love. Dolly's mother talks to her on her own love experiences. Dolly unhappy. IX.—Abner and Rev. Mr. Dole discuss religion. Polo Baker, the ex-moonshiner, whom Alan has reformed. X.—Abner goes to Barclay's, and Dolly talks to him of Alan. He tells Alan of his own sweetheart who died and he still loves her. Alan will hope and wait. XI and XII.—Alan goes to Miller with a project for a railroad to the land. He redeems Polo Baker from the prison gang. XIII.—Miller sends news by Dolly to Alan about his railroad project. She disputes Miller's cynical views of love.

CHAPTER XIV.

THE next morning Alan found Rayburn Miller standing in the door of his little office building waiting for him. "I reckon my message surprised you," Miller said tentatively as he shook hands. "It took me off my feet," smiled Alan. "You see, I never hoped to get you interested in that scheme, and when I heard you were actually going to Atlanta about it I hardly knew what to make of it." Miller turned into his office, kicked a chair toward Alan and dropped into his creaking rocker. "It was not due to you that I did get interested," he said. "Do you know, I can't think of it without getting all over with shame. To tell you the truth, there is one thing I have always been vain about. I didn't honestly think there was a man in Georgia that could give me any tips about investments, but I had to take backward, and for a woman. Think of that—a woman knocked me off my perch as clean and easy as she could stick a hairpin in a ball of hair. I'm not unfair. When anybody teaches me any tricks, I acknowledge the corn and take off my hat. It was this way. I dropped in to see Miss Dolly the other evening. I accidentally disclosed two things in an offhand sort of way. I told her some of the views I gave you at the dance in regard to marriage and love and one thing and another, and then, in complimenting you most highly in other things, I confess I sort of poked fun at your railroad idea." "I thought you had," said Alan good naturedly. "But go on." "Well, she first read me a lecture about bad, empty, shallow men, whose very souls were damned by their past careers, interfering with the pure impulses of younger men, and I'll swear I felt like crawling in a hole and pulling the hole in after me. Well, I got through that in a fashion because she didn't want me to see her real heart, and that helped me. Then she took up the railroad scheme. You know I had heard that she advised her father in all his business matters; but, geewillikins, I never dreamed she could give me points, but she did—she simply did. She looked me straight in the eye and stared at me like a national bank examiner as she asked me to explain why that particular road could not be built and why it would not be a bonanza for the owners of the timber land. I thought she was an easy fish at first, and I gave her plenty of line, but she kept peppering me with unanswerable questions till I lay down on the bank as weak as a rag. The first bluff she gave me was in wanting to know if there were not many branch roads that did not own their rolling stock. She said she knew one in the iron belt in Alabama that didn't own a car or an engine, and wouldn't have them as a free gift. She said if such a road were built as you plan these two main lines would simply fall over each other to send out cars to be loaded for shipment at competitive rates. By George, it was a corker! I found out the next day that she was right, and that doing away with the rolling stock, shops and so forth would cut down the cost of your road more than half."

"That's a fact," exclaimed Alan, "and I had not thought of it." "She's a stronger woman than I ever imagined," said Miller. "By George, if she were not on your string, I'd make a dead set for her. A wife like that would make a man complete. She's in love with you, or thinks she is, but she hasn't that will-o'-the-wisp glamour. She's business from her toes to her finger tips. By George, I believe she makes a business of her love affair. She seems to think she'll settle it by a sum in algebra. But to get back to the railroad, for I've got lots to tell you. What do you reckon I found that day? You couldn't guess in a thousand years. It was a preliminary survey of a railroad once planned from Darley right through your father's purchase to Morganton, N. C. It was made just before the war by old Colonel Wade, who, in his day, was one of the most noted surveyors in the state. This end of the line was all I cared about, and that was almost as level as a floor along the river and down the valley into the north end of town. It's a bonanza, my boy! Why that big bottle of timber land has never been busted is a wonder to me. If as many Yankees had been nosing about here as there have been in other southern sections, it would have been snatched up long ago."

"I'm awfully glad to hear you say all this," said Alan, "for it is the only way out of our difficulty, and something has to be done."

"It may cost you a few years of the hardest work you ever bucked down to," said Miller, "and some sleepless nights, but I really believe you have fallen on to a better thing than any I ever struck. I could make it whiz. I've already done something that will astonish you. I happen to know slightly Tillman Wilson, the president of the Southern Land and Timber company. Their offices are in Atlanta. I know he was my man to tackle, so when I got to Atlanta yesterday I ran upon him just as if it were accidental. I invited him to lunch with me at the Capitol City club; you know I'm a nonresident member. You see, I knew if I put myself in the light of a man with something to sell, he'd hurry away from me, but I didn't. As a pretext I told him I had some clients up here who wanted to raise a considerable amount of money and that the security offered was fine timber land. You see that caught him; he was on his own ground. I saw that he was interested, and I boomed the property to the skies.

"The more I talked the more he was interested, till it was bubbling out all over him. He's a New Englander, who thinks a country lawyer without a Harvard education belongs to an effete civilization, and I let him think he was pumping me. I even left off my g's and ignored my r's. I let him think he had struck the softest thing of his life. Pretty soon he began to want to know if you cared to sell, but I skirted that indifferently, as if I had no interest whatever in it. I told him your father had bought the property to hold for an advance; that he had spent years of his life picking out the richest timber spots and buying them up. Then he came right out, as I hoped he would, and asked me the amount you wanted to borrow on the property. I had to speak quick, and, remembering that you had said the old gentleman had put in about $20,000 first and last, I put the amount at $25,000. I was taking a liberty, but I can easily get you out of it if you decide not to do it."

"Twenty-five thousand! On that land?"

"Twenty-five thousand! On that land?"

"I tell you that's the main thing. If I had offered to sell Wilson the whole thing at $25,000 he never would have come up here, but he is sure now that the property is just what he is looking for. Oh, we are not certain of him by a long jump! It all depends on whether he will insist on going over there or not. If he does, those moss-backs will bust the thing wide open. If he comes straight to my office in the morning, the deal may be closed, but if he lies around the hotel talking, somebody will spoil our plans, and Wilson will hang off to make his own terms later—if he makes any at all. It's ticklish, but we may win."

"It is a rather ticklish situation," admitted Alan, "but even if we do get the loan on the property, don't you think Wilson may delay matters and hope to scoop the property in for the debt?"

"He might," Miller smiled, "if he didn't want to move that railroad somewhere else, and, besides, your father can keep the money in suitable shape to pay off the note in any emergency and free himself."

"I don't know how to thank you, old man," answered Alan. "If you had been personally interested in this, you could not have done more."

Miller threw himself back in his chair and smiled significantly. "Do I look like a man with nothing in it?" he asked.

"But you haven't anything in it," retorted Alan wonderingly.

"That's all you know about it," Miller laughed. "If the road is built, I'll make by it. This is another story. As soon as I saw you were right about putting a railroad into the mountains I began to look around for some of that timber land. I didn't have long to wait, for the only man that holds much of it besides Colonel Barclay—Peter Mosely, whom Perkins fooled just as he did your father—came in. He was laying for me. I saw it in his eye. The Lord had delivered him to me, and I was duly thankful. He opened up himself, bless you, and bragged about his fine body of virgin timber. I looked bored, but let him run on till he was tired; then I said:

"Well, Mosely, what do you intend to do with your white elephant? You know it's not just the sort Barnum is looking for."

"He kind o' blinked at that, but he said: 'I've half a notion to sell. The truth is, I've got the finest investment open to me that I ever had. If I could afford to wait a few years, I could earn money out of this property, but I believe in turning money quick.'

"So do I," said I, and watched him flirt about in the frying pan. Then I said, 'What is the price you hold it at?' "I thought," said he, "that I ought to get as much as I paid."

"As much as you paid Abe Tompkins and Perkins?" I said, with a grin. "Do you think you could possibly sell a piece of land for as much as those sharks? If you can, you'd better go in the real estate business. You'd earn money. Why, they yanked two thousand out of you, didn't they?"

"I don't really think Perkins had anything to do with it," he said. "That's just a report out about old man Bishop's deal. I bought my land on my own judgment."

"Well," I said, "how will fifteen hundred round wheels strike you?"

"I believe I'll take you up," he said. "I want to make that other investment. So we closed, and I went at once to have the deed recorded before he had a chance to change his mind. Now, you see, I'm interested in the thing and I'm going to help you put it through. If your folks want the loan, bring them in in the morning, and if we can manage our Yankee just right we'll get the money."

CHAPTER XV.

AFTER supper that evening the Bishops sat out on the veranda to get the cool air before retiring. There was only one light burning in the house, and that was the little smoky lamp in the kitchen, where the cook was washing the dishes. Bishop sat near his wife, his coat off and vest unbuttoned, his chair tilted back against the weatherboarding. Abner Daniel, who had been trying ever since supper to cheer them up in regard to their financial misfortune, sat smoking in his favorite chair near the banisters, on top of which he now and then placed his stockinged feet.

"You needn't talk that away, Brother Abner," sighed Mrs. Bishop. "You're just doing it out of goodness of heart. We might as well face the truth. We've got to step down from the position we now hold, and present way o' livin'. An' that's Adele. Poor child! She said in 'er last letter that she'd cry 'er eyes out. She was bent on comin' home, but 'er Uncle William won't let 'er. He said she'd not do any good."

"An' she wouldn't," put in Bishop gruffly. "The sight of you an' Alan before me all the time is enough to show me what a fool I've been."

"You are both crossin' bridges 'fore you git to 'em," said Abner. "A lot o' folks has come out'n scrapes worse'n what you are in, ten to one. I ain't never mentioned it, but my land ain't got no mortgage on it, an' I could raise a few seeds to 'elp keep up yore interest an' taxes till you could see yore way ahead."

"Huh!" snorted his brother-in-law. "Do you reckon I'd let an old man as you are, an' no blood kin, stake his little all to help me out of a hole that is gittin' deeper an' wider all the time—a hole I deliberately got myself into? Well, not much!"

"I wouldn't listen to that nuther," declared Mrs. Bishop, "but not many men would offer it."

They heard a horse trotting down the road, and all bent their heads to listen. "It's Alan," said Abner. "I was thinkin' it was time he was showin' up."

Mrs. Bishop rose wearily to order the cook to get his supper ready, and returned to the veranda just as Alan was coming from the stable. He sat down on the steps, lashing the legs of his dusty trousers with his riding whip. It was plain that he had something of importance to say, and they all waited in impatient silence.

"Father," he said, "I've had a talk with Rayburn Miller about your land. He and I have lately been working on a little idea of mine. You know there are people who will lend money on real estate. How would it suit you to borrow $25,000 on that land, giving that alone as security?"

There was a startled silence, and Bishop broke it in a tone of great irritation.

"Do you take me for a plumb fool?" he asked. "When I want you an' Miller to dabble in my business, I'll call on you. Twenty-five thousand, I say! If I could exchange every acre of it for enough to lift the mortgage on this farm an' keep a roof over our heads I'd do it gladly. Pshaw!"

There was another silence, and then Alan began to explain.

While he talked Mrs. Bishop sat like a figure cut from stone, and Bishop leaned forward, his elbows on his knees, his big face in his hands. It was as if a tornado of hope had blown over him, shaking him through and through.

"You been doin' this to 'elp me out," he gasped, "an' I never so much as axed yore opinion one way or another."

"I'd rather see you make money out of that purchase than anything in the world," said his son, with feeling. "People have made fun of you in your old age, but if we can build the road and you can get your hundred thousand dollars some of these folks will laugh on the other side of their faces."

Bishop was so full of excitement and emotion that he dared not trust his voice to utterance. He leaned back against the wall and closed his eyes, pretending to be calm, though his alert wife saw that he was quivering in every limb.

"Oh, Alan," she cried, "don't you see how excited your pa is? You ought not to raise his hopes this way on such an uncertainty. As Mr. Miller said, there may be some slip, and we'd be right back where we was and feel worse than ever."

Bishop rose from his chair and began to walk to and fro on the veranda. "It ain't possible," they heard him say. "I won't git out as easy as that—I just can't!"

"Perhaps it would be wrong to expect too much," said Alan, "but I was

Bishop wheeled and, paused before them. "If Wilson puts up the money, I'd have enough to lift the mortgage an' a clean $20,000 besides to put in some good investment."

Aunt Maria, the colored cook, came out and thudily announced that Alan's supper was on the table, but no one heard her. She crossed the veranda and touched the young man on the shoulder.

"Supper's ready, Marse Alan," she said, "en it's gittin' col' erkin'."

He rose and followed her into the dining room and sat down in his accustomed place at the long table. When he had eaten, he went back to the group on the veranda.

"I think I'll go up to bed," he told them. "My ride and running aroud at Darley have made me very tired. Father, get all your papers together and let's take an early start in the morning."

CHRISTIAN HOST INVADES DENVER

FATHER CLARK IS RE-ELECTED

All the Other Officers are Similarly Honored by the Convention.—Treasurer Shaw's Report Shows Organization is in Good Shape.

Denver, Colo., July 10.—Christian Endeavorers have taken possession of Denver. It is estimated that 10,000 visitors were in the city when the twenty-first international Christian Endeavor convention was opened in a tent near City park.

A rousing song service, led by the Rev. F. H. Jacobs of New York, preceded the opening of the convention, which was called to order at 2 o'clock by President Francis E. Clark, father of the Christian Endeavor movement. After devotional exercises, led by the Rev. Dr. B. B. Tyler of Denver, a welcoming song was sung by a chorus of 600 voices, conducted by Professor W. J. Whiteman. Welcoming addresses followed, Governor James Peabody speaking for the state, the Rev. Dr. Robert T. Coyle for the churches, and Chairman William Sweet for the committee of 1903. Hearty greetings were also extended by Dr. George F. Libbey of Colorado Springs, who joined the first society in Maine twenty-two years ago. Ten-minute responses by delegates followed.

Re-Elect Officers.

At the annual business meeting all the old officers were re-elected, as follows: President, the Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D.; treasurer, William A. Shaw; clerk, George B. Graft; auditor, Fred H. Kidder. Denominational trustees for the ensuing four years were elected as follows:

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Brooks, Washington, D. C.; the Rev. W. H. Brown, Shippensburg, Pa.; the Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, New York City; the Rev. A. C. Crews, Toronto, Canada; the Rev. N. B. Grubb, Philadelphia; the Rev. Sam McNaughton, Boston; the Rev. George E. McManis, West Lafayette, Ind.; Professor Elbert Russell, Richmond, Ind.; the Rev. Hugh H. Walker, Los Angeles, Cal.; Professor H. L. Willett, Chicago, and the Rev. C. F. Yoder, Ashland, Ohio.

Treasurer's Report.

The presidents of state, territorial, and provincial unions were elected trustees for one year. George Platt Knox, St. Louis, and Miss Mary L. Aldrich, Minneapolis, were made life members of the association.

Treasurer William Shaw's annual report showed receipts for the year ended June 1 to have been $9,593; cash on hand June 1, $85. The publishing department's expenditures the past year were $62,510; cash on hand June 1, $3,042. Its total assets are $44,169; liabilities, $7,413.

B. Y. P. U. in Convention.

Atlanta, Ga., July 10.—The thirteenth annual convention of the International Baptists' Young People's union was called to order in this city for a four days' session by President John H. Chapman of Chicago. The attendance is estimated at 5,000.

The delegates were welcomed by Governor J. M. Terrell in behalf of the state, Mayor E. P. Howell in behalf of Atlanta and former Governor W. J. Northern in behalf of the Georgia B. Y. P. U. Emory W. Hunt, president of the Dennison university, responded to the address of welcome in behalf of the board of managers of the international union. The morning session of the convention was devoted principally to routine work. At the afternoon session Spencer B. Meeser, D. D., pastor of the Woodward Avenue Baptist church, of Detroit, Mich., spoke. The Rev. W. T. Stackhouse, superintendent of the Baptist missions Winnipeg, Manitoba, also gave an address.

CHASE CASE COMES UP AGAIN

Suit for Accounting from the Duhme Family Opens in Federal Court.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 10.—Hearing of the argument on the bill of complaint filed by Frederick S. Chase against Charles H. and Ophelia Flower Duhme is in progress in the federal court. The purpose of the bill is to show what business transactions took place between Moses Fowler Chase and the Duhmes while Chase was with them. The argument was opened by ex-Attorney General William A. Ketcham, who sought to prove that Frederick Chase was not a general guardian of his son, Moses Fowler Chase, when the bill was filed and had no right to make the demand.

Encourage Dishonesty.

Newport, July 10.—Lady Herbert, wife of Ambassador Herbert, who recently left a small bag containing $15,000 worth of jewels on the Wickford boat landing while en route to New York, has rewarded the station agent and the baggage master who found the bag with $5 each.

Loubet Leaves for Home.

London, July 10.—President Loubet has left London for Dover, from which port he will sail for home. The French President was given an enthusiastic farewell ovation.

Lightning Kills One.

Vincennes, Ind., July 10.—Walter Sexton of Terre Haute was instantly killed by lightning five miles west of here, and fifteen other men received severe shocks.

Bulgaria Will Not War.

Vienna, July 10.—Prince Ferdinand has given assurances that Bulgaria will make no further preparations against Turkey.

Toy Pistol Causes Death.

Cincinnati, O., July 10.—Frank L. Butzkowski, eleven years old, is dead from lockjaw, as a result of a toy pistol wound.

Hotel Is Destroyed.

Jamestown, N. Y., July 10.—The Waldmere hotel at Lakewood, which was damaged by fire Wednesday, was completely destroyed by a second fire Thursday. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. The loss is about $80,000.

Grave Diggers on a Strike.

New York, July 10.—The grave diggers in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, are on a strike, demanding an increase of pay from $1.60 to $2 a day. The receiving vaults are being used to retain the bodies whenever possible.

Railroad Changes Hands.

Salt Lake, July 10.—The Oregon Short Line from Sandy, Utah, to Clentele, Nev., passed into the hands of the Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad, Senator Clark giving his check for $11,000,000 for the property.

Recluse Shot to Death.

Janesville, Wis., July 10.—Charles Randall, a brother of General George H. Randall, U. S. A., was found dead in his bed with a bullet hole in his head. He was wealthy and lived alone on the outskirts of the city.

Naval Treaty Delayed.

Havana, July 10.—The Senate committee has decided to submit a report recommending the postponement of the ratification of the naval stations treaty.

Work for Thousands.

Topeka, Kan., July 10.—Over 5,000 men are yet needed in the Kansas harvest fields to save the great wheat crop.

JAIL ESCAPE IS KEPT SECRET

Fort Wayne Prison Officials Fail to Report Flight of Convicts.

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 10.—William Streichen, a coal thief, and Charles Johnson, a tool thief, sentenced to ninety and sixty days in jail respectively, escaped from the guard in the jail yard two months ago, but the jail attendants made no report of the escape. The time of one of these escaped prisoners would have expired soon, and an officer from Michigan wanted to see the prisoner before his time was up and reached Fort Wayne, thus exposing the scandal. The escape of the two prisoners and the secrecy maintained caused a sensation in police circles.

Arrest Negro for Murder.

Everett, Wash., July 10.—E. T. Oglesby, a negro, who is wanted at McHenry, Mich., for the murder of a woman last March, is under arrest here. He has made a partial confession. He is known as "Florida Pop."

Doctor Commits Suicide.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 10.—Dr. William J. Byrne of Peak's Mill, near Frankfort, Ky., was found dead in a room at the home of W. A. Hall. The circumstances indicate that death was caused by his own hand.

Women Organize Union.

Worcester, Mass., July 10.—A labor union of women stenographers and typewriters is being organized here to regulate hours of work and secure a shorter work day. The idea is supported enthusiastically.

Mrs. Blaine Failing Fast.

Augusta, Me., July 10.—There is little change in the condition of Mrs. James G. Blaine, her physicians saying that life is simply wearing away. The end may come suddenly or she may live several days.
